

Use Cases

1. Actor: Registered User
 - a. Logs in:
 - i. Pre: not logged in
 - ii. Post: user is verified and can create events
 - b. Creates event:
 - i. Pre: event doesn't exist
 - ii. Post: event is now pending approval from admin, goes into sql database
2. Actor: guest
 - a. Goes to website:
 - i. Pre: hasn't seen events yet
 - ii. Post: sees events and possibly decides to go to one
 - b. Sorts events by category
 - i. Pre: sees all events
 - ii. Post: only sees events that are in a given category

- c. Sorts evens by start time:
 - i. Pre: sees all events
 - ii. Post: only sees events that are starting at a certain time
 - d. Gets info about events
 - i. Pre: doesn't know anything about an event
 - ii. Clicks on the poster for that event and finds out more about it
 - e. Signs up to become a registered user
 - i. Pre: isn't a registered user and can only view events
 - ii. Now can create events pending approval
3. Actor: Administrator
- a. Creates event:
 - i. Pre: Event isn't listed on the website
 - ii. Post: Event it now listed on the website
 - b. Approves event
 - i. Pre: Sees a request for an event on the website from a registered user
 - ii. Post: the event is now listed on the website
 - c. Removes event:
 - i. Pre: The event is listed on the website
 - ii. Post: the event has now been deleted